MEMORANDUM

2/21/79

Dear Lea,

For some reason you are prone to writing me nasty notes without warrant. I've known for a long time since I have been an elected official that the people who abuse you most are the people you consider closest to. You substantiate that!

There are two things I suggest to you on the matter of your sister's wedding:

- ① Get copy of the mailgram you sent by way of Western Union to verify delivery.
- ② Weddings are very personal. If one fails to respond to an invitation, that too is very personal. (Was not the case, but same principle holds for your future reference)

My life by the way
has ~~not~~ changed since I have been here. I am not impressed with status.

It seems to me that there are more important issues before us than the castigation of our friends.

Dear Mickey,

I took a long-shot chance on inviting you to attend my sister's BIG wedding and sent you a mailgram.

Although I realize you're very busy and are doing a great job, it would have been very nice to have received a reply - even through somebody in your office.

Just another lesson I've learned. Once you make it up there, you're all alike!

Sincerely yours,
